

CALL ME LUCIFER PART FOUR

Written by

Chaz Wilke & Jacob Buras

April 15, 2016

EXT. BURBANK - MORNING

LOCATION: On Burbank Blvd. Right by Witnall Hwy. Town sign in medium. We'll be quick.

D.W. BURBANK
Heya pal, looks like someone's got the grumps.

As D.W. speaks, Alec rises to his feet.

D.W. BURBANK (CONT'D)
What's the matter? NoHo run ya out?

Alec revs up to vent. D.W. raises a finger, looks to the heavens then grabs his lapels.

D.W. BURBANK (CONT'D)
The name's D.W. Burbank,

D.W. saddles up and rib jabs Alec.

D.W. BURBANK (CONT'D)
and I'm here to tell ya, friend:
(beat)
There's no need to be down.

D.W. walks onward, arms outstretched.

D.W. BURBANK (CONT'D)
Come to Burbank!

Alec stumbles after as he confusedly complies.

CUT TO:

EXT. SONG: HERE IN BURBANK - DAY - CONTINUOUS

LOCATION: The Chandler Bike Path: Nice Burbank Side

D.W. throws his arm around Alec and waves a great gesture towards Burbank.

D.W. BURBANK
Here in Burbank, we're very clean.

D.W. pulls his hand off Alec's shoulder and rubs thumb to finger as he frowns at Alec.

D.W. BURBANK (CONT'D)
Goodness your coat is most obscene!
(beat)
Our municipality.
(MORE)

D.W. BURBANK (CONT'D)
 (beat)
 Is the best in the valley.

D.W. leads Alec through parks and various locals around Burbank. At one point, D.W. tries to cheer Alec up.

D.W. BURBANK (CONT'D)
 We have cuisine from every culture.
 (beat)
 It's pretty much a better EPCOT.
 (beat)
 But if you're craving swedish meatballs.
 (beat)
 And need prefab furniture.
 (beat)
 We have IKEA.

D.W. pants slightly as he's out of breath. Then he leans in.

D.W. BURBANK (CONT'D)
 But that's not all!

D.W. pulls back and throws his arms wide.

D.W. BURBANK (CONT'D)
 We're building a bigger one!

D.W. Reaches forward and grabs both of Alec's arms.

D.W. BURBANK (CONT'D)
 Come I'll show ya!

D.W. Wisks Alec away.

CUT TO:

EXT. CONSTRUCTION SITE

D.W. stands with Alec at the perimeter fence of the site of the new IKEA. D.W. stands proud with his hands on his hips.

D.W. Marvels at the progress.

D.W. BURBANK
 Isn't it beautiful?

D.W. leans in.

D.W. BURBANK (CONT'D)
 It's going to be the biggest in the whole world!

ALEC

That is an impressive feat of engineering.

D.W. BURBANK

So ...

(beat)

what's your story friend?

Alec straightens himself up, pulls his tie back up tight for the first time on this journey. He holds up a finger.

ALEC

My name is Alec Reidel.

(beat)

And the news runs in my family.

(beat)

From newsreels to the newspaper.

(beat)

And then I anchored my own show.

(beat)

We brought the world to NoHo.

(beat)

While providing social commentary.

(beat)

Ratings dipped when truth was told.

(beat)

But I kept pushing forward, so

(beat)

They took my own show from me.

(beat)

And they gave it to two imbecils.

(beat)

And then they ran me out of town.

(beat)

Even though I was right.

D.W. BURBANK

But it really doesn't matter.

ALEC

What? It really doesn't matter?

D.W. BURBANK

No, it really doesn't matter.

(beat)

So this pickle that you think you're in.

(beat)

Is nothing but a speed bump, friend.

(beat)

So buck up.

(beat)

(MORE)

D.W. BURBANK (CONT'D)
You're in Burbank and we've got something for everyone.

D.W. shuttle's Alec off to present more of the best of Burbank. Alec is non-plussed at the art, food and shopping provided by the town.

INT. BEER HOUSE - CONTINUOUS

Finally D.W. Lands on beer. Alec shows interest. D.W. Is pleased to know he's "in."

They cheers and drink.

Cam whip down to table, flash cut to five pint glasses and an appetizer plate on the table.

Cam up, Alec and D.W. Are drinking. D.W. Finishes his sip.

D.W. BURBANK
Ooh...
(beat) Hoppy.

Alec springs back to life. Full on-air persona.

ALEC Actually.
(beat)
That's a wheat beer.

D.W. BURBANK
Oh!
(beat) Wheaty!

D.W. Puts down his glass and fixes his gaze up Alec.

D.W. BURBANK (CONT'D)
We have a job for you.

Alec scoffs.

ALEC
In Burbank?

D.W. raises a finger and an eyebrow.

CUT TO:

EXT. BROWN BRICK BUILDING - NEWSPAPER - DAY

D.W. drags Alec into frame.

D.W. BURBANK

Print. News.

(beat)

And you're just the man for the job.

Alec bristles.

ALEC

You still run print in Burbank?

D.W. stands tall.

D.W. BURBANK

I can see that you're a fighter and a good man, mister Reidel.

(beat)

And the folks like you sure come in short supply.

(beat)

See, we don't normally do this:

(beat)

But WE NEED YA!

(beat)

Yes, The Burbank Telegraph is right for you!

(beat)

So wipe off that frown and give us your opinion.

(beat)

Something you're uniquely qualified to do.

ALEC

Well, the citizens of NoHo ran me out.

(beat)

So I'm here.

(beat)

Now I've thrown away my family's legacy.

(beat)

But the streets are clean and Burbank isn't as bad as I thought.

(beat)

I can finally speak the truth and it be heard.

EDITOR

Hey, is that the guy that showed the world that nipple?!

(beat)

So, it's true those bastards ran you out of town.

(beat)

Editorials would suit you. You've got guts, kid.

(beat)

Let this platform be the place that you'll call home.

D.W. BURBANK

Whudda ya say?!

ALEC

Oh.

(beat)

Kay!

D.W. Strikes a triumphant finale pose.