

SAMPLE ACTION SEQUENCE

Written by

Chaz Wilke

NOTE: This is the first few scenes of the climax to a feature written earlier this year. Two brothers mount a rescue effort to save their friend, Daisy, from her abductor, Felipe, the local drug lord. They didn't have access to real weapons or disguises so they are forced to improvise.

Contact for street address
Los Angeles, CA 90038
213-949-0972
ChazWilke@gmail.com

EXT. WAREHOUSE DISTRICT - NIGHT

A rust-laden car silently rolls to a stop near the fenced-off perimeter of a small city of dark, silent warehouses.

INT. RAFE'S CAR - CONT'D

The two brothers sit inside, RAFE, 28, and JAY, 24, dressed in their homemade disguises. Both wear luchador masks, dark shirts and pants, and Rafe has tied a bath towel around his neck like a cape.

They look out on the long stretch of warehouses in front of them.

Jay pulls out binoculars from his backpack and surveys the area.

Rafe nervously bites his fingernails.

JAY

We've got a few security cameras, and two... No wait, three guards on patrol.

The three GUARDS are circling one specific warehouse. One of the patrol guards clearly has a gun in a holster.

JAY (CONT'D)

Oh great, they're armed.
(beat)

This would've been a great time to flex our second-amendment rights.

Rafe waves off Jay's comment.

RAFE

(dismissive)
No way man, guns are dangerous.

JAY

Especially in their hands...

Jay points to the specific warehouse.

JAY (CONT'D)

This one has got to be Felipe's.
The guards seem to be favoring it on their patrol.

Rafe jumps into action, opens his driver's side door.

RAFE
Alright, let's rock!

Jay grabs his arm.

JAY
Hang on, we need some kind of attack plan!

Rafe grins.

RAFE
Nah...
(beat)
Let's just wing it!

Rafe grabs his backpack with his field hockey stick poking through the mesh, pops out of the car and slams his door.

JAY
(sotto)
We are going to die.

Jay grabs his bag and frying pan, exits the car and runs after Rafe in a hurried, crouched run.

EXT. WAREHOUSE DISTRICT - PERIMETER FENCE - CONT'D

They approach the outer fence, carefully avoiding the eye of the security camera.

Jay motions to Rafe to help hoist him up. Rafe's confused.

Jay pulls out his shaving cream then points up at the camera.

Rafe stares at Jay blankly.

Jay pretends to spray the shaving cream in his eyes and pantomimes that he's blind.

RAFE
(sotto)
What the hell are you trying to say?

Jay gets flustered.

JAY
(sotto)
Shh!

Jay grabs Rafe's mouth and looks around.

JAY (CONT'D)
(sotto)
Hoist me up so I can neutralize this camera.

Rafe pulls Jay's hand from his mouth and nods.

RAFE
(sotto)
Oh... Gotcha.

Rafe weaves his fingers together and crouches, prepared to hoist Jay up. Then he giggles to himself.

RAFE (CONT'D)
(sotto)
Neutralize... Heh.

Jay steps on his brother's hands and gets lifted high enough to spray the camera with shaving cream.

While he's up there he removes the towel from his bag and throws it over the barbed wire.

Jay climbs over the fence and Rafe follows right after.

INT. FELIPE'S WAREHOUSE HIDEOUT - CONT'D

Felipe pours tea into two cups.

He hands a cup to Daisy, who now sits with her hands bound in front of her. She stares at the ground, defeated. She takes the tea but doesn't drink.

FELIPE
This is one the rarest teas in the world. A single sip is worth more than you'll make in a lifetime.

Daisy sniffs, her nose is red, and makeup streaks down her face. She's been crying so long that her tears have run dry.

FELIPE (CONT'D)
So you were content getting by on tutoring?

Daisy looks up slightly and quietly answers.

DAISY
...It's fulfilling work.

Felipe sips his tea proudly.

FELIPE

Ah, a response! Welcome to the conversation, Daisy!

Felipe beckons Daisy to sip. After a long beat, she finally does.

FELIPE (CONT'D)

A girl as pretty as you needs an income to match!

(beat)

Who knows? Maybe one day you'll have enough to enjoy this tea anytime you wish!

Felipe caresses Daisy's hair, she tenses as his hand makes contact.

Daisy looks up.

DAISY

If you think this charade of treating me by your twisted version of nice would get me to work the streets for you as a prostitute, you're sorely mistaken.

Fire erupts in Felipe's eyes.

He smacks the tea cup from Daisy's hand, it flies and shatters against the concrete floor of the warehouse.

He takes a moment to calm himself.

FELIPE

(solemn)

What makes you think this is me asking?

Daisy looks down at her trembling hands that have just been rudely relieved of holding the tea cup. She balls them up and holds them close to her chest.

EXT. WAREHOUSE DISTRICT - NIGHT

Guards continue their patrols, oblivious to Jay and Rafe slowly making their way towards the building.

Jay stops Rafe before they get too close.

JAY

(sotto)

OK, well they do have guns, but they only outnumber us by one. You go around to the left, I'll go to the right. Only attack from behind and make sure they're alone when you do.

Rafe appears distracted as he looks off in an indiscriminate direction.

JAY (CONT'D)

(sotto)

Stay in the shadows and you should be... Hey! Are you listening?

Rafe's attention snaps back to Jay.

RAFE

(sotto)

Huh? Yeah, shadows. Got it. I'll take the left. If you can get behind one, a clear smack to the back of the head should do the trick.

Jay nods as they head out on their separate routes around the warehouse.

EXT. FELIPE'S WAREHOUSE - TALL GROUP OF BOXES - CONT'D

Jay hurriedly shuffles into place against the wall, near the corner of Felipe's warehouse. He hides behind an eight foot high, haphazardly arranged stack of boxes.

He hears FEET SHUFFLING around the corner of the warehouse.

Then he looks up above the boxes and sees a security camera attached to the side of the warehouse.

JAY

(sotto)

Damn.

The SHUFFLING sounds like it's getting closer.

Jay makes a snap decision to quickly climb the boxes and spray shaving cream on the security camera first.

A smile creeps across Jay's face as he finishes.

JAY (CONT'D)
(sotto)
Neutralized!

Jay stuffs the shaving cream back in his bag then strikes a pose like a gargoyle on an old library just as he sees the guard round the corner.

Luckily, Jay is higher than the guard's eye line so he remains unseen high up on the boxes.

The guard pauses near the edge of where Jay waits silently.

Jay debates the distance from his perch to the guard.

He sways his arms back and forth preparing to jump on the guard below as he holds his frying pan at the ready.

Jay jumps, landing clumsily on the guard.

The guard falls to the ground, but isn't knocked out.

Jay gets to his feet as the guard attempts to do the same.

Jay delivers a powerful knockout blow to the base of the guard's skull.

The frying pan makes a satisfying PING! Which Jay instantly attempts to silence, and quickly looks around to make sure no other guard heard.

CUT TO:

EXT. FELIPE'S WAREHOUSE HIDEOUT - BACKSIDE - CONT'D

Rafe saunters around the corner, smoking a cigarette.

A guard stands about twenty meters away with his back to Rafe, surveying out across the landscape.

Rafe casually walks towards the guard, seemingly without a plan.

Rafe's SHUFFLING FEET alerts the guard right before Rafe gets close enough to attack.

The guard turns.

GUARD
Huh?

Rafe makes eye contact with the guard.

GUARD (CONT'D)
What the hell?

The guard sees something out of a bad comic book standing ten feet in front of him. A lanky twenty-something wearing a luchador mask, with a bath towel tied around his neck, smoking a cigarette.

The guard instantly pulls his gun.

Without concern, Rafe casually raises his hands above his head.

The guard reaches for his two-way radio, looking down as he grabs it.

RAFE
(abruptly)
Hey!

The guard looks up.

Rafe flicks his lit cigarette at the guard's face. It hits the guard square between the eyes, knocking him off-balance as he swats at his face, wiping away the red-hot embers.

As the guard stumbles, Rafe grabs his field hockey stick from the mesh holster on his backpack. He takes a few steps forward and swings it like a golf club, making solid contact with the guard's chin.

The guard falls to his hands and knees, as Rafe readies his knockout strike on the base of the guard's skull.

THWACK!

Rafe looks down at the guard out cold. Then spots the cigarette he flicked.

He picks it up, takes a puff, then continues his casual walk around the perimeter.

CUT TO:

EXT. FELIPE'S WAREHOUSE HIDEOUT - FRONT SIDE - CONT'D

Jay rounds the corner, searching for the third guard.

Surveying the area, Jay sees no sign of activity.

JAY
(sotto)
Where the hell is Rafe...

GUARD

Hey you!

Jay's face turns white and his mouth drops open as he slowly turns to see the guard behind him.

GUARD (CONT'D)

What the hell do you think you're doing?

Jay's at a loss, he raises his hands and attempts to stutter out a response.

Suddenly, a field hockey stick THWACKS the guard in the back of the head.

The guard drops and reveals Rafe standing heroically. Silhouetted against the darkness by the pale yellow light pouring from the fixture above the entrance behind him.

Jay's amazed. Not just at Rafe's ability to get the drop on the guard, but that he genuinely looks like a super hero in his homemade outfit!

The brothers reunite in front of the door to Felipe's hideout.

Jay pulls his towel out of his bag and ties it around his neck making the two look like a team.

JAY

For Daisy.

Rafe bounces on the balls of his feet.

RAFE

For Daisy.

The brothers align in front of the door. They both take a step back in unison and lunge forward with a tandem kick that blasts open the door like a wrecking ball.