Spotlight on Lead Generation Companies

By Chaz Wilke, Staff Writer

May 6, 2014

There was a time where generating leads required a mountain of time. Each affiliate marketer would need to spend his entire day searching for potential leads. Now, with the power of the Internet, the process has become increasingly automated. This has led to the formation of lead generation companies, which help smooth the lead generation process.

There are both lead generation companies and lead generation agencies, which are similar but can have major differences. Some may help with acquisition, some with prioritization and organization, and some go as far as helping build a lead generation campaign.

Lead Generation Companies

Lead generation companies focus primarily on lead generation software solutions, which are vital for tracking and organizing incoming leads. Lead generation companies have been proven to respond faster to leads than they have in the past. So, it's becoming increasingly clear that Internet marketers should consider incorporating software into their lead generating pipeline.

Some companies offer integration of SEO services with WordPress and Drupal to help you while you write your blog posts. These services can help keep an eye on potential SEO trouble areas before your post even goes live. This has the potential to save you time and might help maximize your lead generating process.

Other companies offer software packages that provide tools to help with a range of tasks including social media management and email marketing automation.

Most lead generation companies offer software packages with limited support, which may be exactly what Internet marketers are looking for. Software solutions allow for automation of repetitive tasks and the freedom to tailor your lead generation campaigns exactly as you choose may fit your needs perfectly.

However, if you're looking for a more hands-on approach, consider using a lead generation agency.

Lead Generation Agencies

A lead generation agency is often a portion of a larger marketing agency. While many lead generation agencies offer similar services as lead generation companies, most can also help create your lead generation campaign as well.

If you've been struggling with your brand identity or not quite sure how to formulate a lead generation campaign, a lead generation agency may be exactly what you might be seeking.

Many lead generation agencies offer extensive services that go far beyond a simple software package. You can find agencies that offer full website coding services, PR and brand management, as well as full marketing teams that can help create a lead generation campaign.

Below is a video that outlines the high-level steps that go into creating a lead generation campaign:

Takeaway

There are many options for affiliate marketers and publishers looking for a little lead generation help. Both lead generation companies and lead generation agencies offer a wide array of services and expertise. Not all solutions will be right for you. Please take a moment to look over your business plan and decide which might be the best fit for you!
